There are people who charge the railroad—by ho means a friend to silver—with an intentional case of overzeal. The plan worked to Bryan's disadvantage in Illinois and Indiana, where he would hardly begin speaking before the bell would ring for a start. Many who would have seen and heard Mr. Bryan were disappointed.

At two points in Indiana, as well as at Mount Vernon, McLeansboro, Carmy and Enfield, in Illinois, the orator had arrived, had speken and had been spirited away even before the coming of the advertised hour of his arrival. As he left these places crowds could be seen hurrying to the meetings from all directions. He had come too soon.

At Carmy two big railroad excursions, one from Cairo and one from Vincennes, drew in just as the Bryan special steamed out. Thousands were thereby disappointed.
